DERMATILLOMANIA COLLECTION

SCALP PICKING

healing journal

Do you pick your skin when you're stressed? Anxious? Bored?

You're not broken. You're not gross. You're human—and maybe dealing with dermatillomania, a compulsive skin-picking disorder that no one talks about, but so many of us quietly live with.

This journal is a soft place to land when your hands won't stay still and your thoughts won't quiet down. Designed for anyone struggling with the urge to pick—whether it's pimples, scabs, or stress itself—this book isn't about perfection. It's about progress, self-awareness, and healing without shame.

Inside, you'll find:

- Self-reflection prompts
- Tracking pages for habits & triggers
- Gentle reminders that you are not alone

Whether you pick daily or just once in a while, this journal is your space. No judgment. No pressure. Just healing—one page at a time.
